This sparkling and fun filled pantomime by Ron Hall, originally produced by Hanham Players in 2006, is now updated and revised for 2016. Mother Goose is one of the top most enjoyed pantomimes - it first appeared in 1806 entitled "Harlequin an Mother Goose" or "The Golden Egg", opening on Boxing Day and played for 92 nights. The version we know today is a mere 114 years old. It has a strong Beauty and Wealth cannot bring you happiness message.

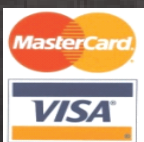

Our production follows the traditional telling with some fun diversions, new characters and lots of jokes and songs. Based around Mother Goose's farm house where lives with Jack and Jill. They are very poor and are threatened with eviction by the nasty Squire.

But the Fairy Queen saves the day by sending Priscilla the goose who lays Golden Eggs. But the Demon Queen and Squire conspire to get the Goose, leading to who lot of trouble, and some ghosts and ghouls.

With lots of fun songs, audience participation, great sets and lighting - this is a panto not to be missed.
